The behavior exhibited by a manager can increase or decrease the amount of productive, constructive and profitable behavior of others in an organization.

Many managers don't realize the change in balance that they must face between understanding technical skills and understanding people skills.

PerformanceStream has a single focus: developing and enhancing a company's most valuable resource: people.

PerformanceStream is dedicated to developing successful processes that enable all managers and, in fact, all employees to contribute more effectively to business performance.

Management Development will bring about:

- ◇ Cohesive, energized teams
- ◇ Reduced turnover
- ◇ Improved organizational profits
- ◇ Developed and sustained corporate values
- ◇ Stronger working relationships
- ◇ Increased market share
